WHITE GAINS IN POPULARITY

Despite the early vogue of bright colors and of patterned materials, it begins to look as though the summer season itself were to be one of white.

White silks and crepes, white raites, laces, and Swiss organdies, white in every conceivable material is being shown and worn.

Sometimes white is used as a background for colored trimmings, as in the slip-on blouse sketched. This is worn with one of the well-liked pleated skirts.

Slip-on dresses made with an elastic gathered waist are very popular and are shown in many styles.

Many women prefer them to skirts and blouses for sports wear and the elastic waistline permits one to swing one's arms with all the fervor at one's command.

In which she rides a horse, something which she does incessantly. She also appears as the city woman in gorgeous raiment.

Redford and Winchester open with a choice bit of juggling and other nonsense, a splendid item.

The Carroll Girls are two dainty bits of feminine charm, with voices and real idea of harmony.

J. C. Lewis, Jr. and Company, brings out a versatile youth of 14 or so—just as a guest—a sprightly maid of something less in years, with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, Sr., it was some thing about Santa Claus and the night before Christmas, with added touches.

Lighting and footlights can be recommended as the best blackface team here recently. Plus dancing, clever dialogue and such.

Glenn's Musical Ten, featuring jazz with all the known instruments for evoking the same, are a notable organization. They dispensed a grade of harmony not to be despised. They are well trained, well conducted and have the goods.

Billou. "A Matrimony a Failure" the picture shown at the Bijou, is a good picture in that it is lively and well played. The cast is excellently chosen, and really puts the play across.

As a story the plot of the production is rather far-fetched. It tells of a couple who eloped legally, but are taken to the clubhouse where they had intended spending their honeymoon. Then it developed that the clerk of the courts is away every night, and practically all the people in the town are taking a vacation.

Instead of being a serious attempt to present a really intelligent picture, the picture is in general, a farcical comedy drama, with little drama.

At the Broadway. "Sonny" is undoubtedly the picture of the week. It is as good work as Richard Barthelmus has ever done, not excepting the favored "The Little Devil." Dick takes the role of a buddy, killed in battle, returning to the blind mother of his friend, and trying to get on to her.

At the Colonial. May Murray and Rodolph Valentino, in a film called "The Delicious Little Devil" are a pair to draw the guests of relatives in Baltimore, have returned to the Gresham Court Apartments.

At the Bluebird. Pauline Frederick, in "Two Kinds of Women," an excellent picture. It is a picture of the Western country.

TRY THIS WITH YOUR BABY AT TEETHING TIME

The cutting of teeth is a tax on the infant's little system, which is reflected directly upon the stomach, the seat of all ills, causing what is commonly termed "indigestion," or improper elimination of toxic poisons that have accumulated on account of fermentation of food in the stomach.

DENIES NORWEGIANS HAVE RIGHTFUL CLAIMS

American Representative Addresses International Court at the Hague.

THE HAGUE, July 31.—George Sutherland, chief counsel for the United States in the ship building case between the American and Norwegian governments now being heard by the permanent court of arbitration, today opened the argument for the American side of the case.

Mr. Sutherland, in his argument, dwelt upon the enormous sacrifices in lives and treasure suffered during the war by America in the protection of her own people and also by the Norwegians, who, he declared, were also victims of German submarines, but who preferred to remain neutral.

Mr. Sutherland declared that the Norwegians were now claiming compensation and interest four times as much as they paid for the ships in question. He advanced legal arguments to prove that there had been no requisitioning on the Norwegian contracts. He declared the American government had only requisitioned ships that were under construction. The actual contracts, he argued, were already void, being contrary to American law.

CONTINUE RELIEF WORK THREE OR FOUR MONTHS

Hoover Says Medical Supplies Are Badly Needed in Russia.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—American relief work in Russia will continue for three or four months at least, Secretary Hoover announced today upon his return from New York, where he met yesterday with Colonel William N. Haskell, head of the American Relief Administration.

Mr. Hoover said, in a medical sense, the relief administration, to decide the future program for Russian relief.

The major problem now in Soviet Russia since the famine has been broken, Mr. Hoover said, is a medical one, requiring the continuance of a program of American sanitation for the protection of the rest of the world from contagion.

"Russia, from the world's standpoint, is a cesspool of contagious infection," he said.

The lesser problem, confronting American relief work, Mr. Hoover declared, was the question of displaced children, there being about 1,000,000 children who have been separated from their families as a result of the famine, and who are now under the care of the American Relief Administration.
